

LOCHINDAAL – NEW FILLINGS

Lochindaal, the Gaelic Loch na dail means ‘loch of division’, is a large Atlantic sea loch that almost divides the island of Islay in two. Bruichladdich distillery is on its shore. It was also a later name for the Port Charlotte distillery when it closed in 1929, 2 miles further along the shore from Bruichladdich.

Production director Jim McEwan: “As a distiller, I delight in exploring what can be achieved with different barley types and peating levels - it’s what makes me tick. Bruichladdich’s success since we took over has been based on stocks of a traditional, negligible peating level. This will remain the basis of Bruichladdich. But from day one I also wanted to distil peated barley, partly in homage to days gone by, but also to provide flavour variety as ingredients for future bottlings.”

Port Charlotte in 2001 and Octomore in 2002 were both new spirits named after long lost distilleries, the ranks of which Bruichladdich itself could so easily have joined. First released in 2007, Lochindaal at 50ppm+ is more heavily peated than the highly successful Port Charlotte but less so than Octomore (the world’s most heavily peated whisky). The first 70 casks from the 2009 distillation, filled into fresh bourbon barrels, will be offered for sale to the public (under bond) at £1950.00 each.

2009 OFFER - LIMITED EDITION OF 70 CASKS FROM THE 2009 DISTILLATION

Upon receiving your completed order form and payment, a receipted invoice will be sent to you confirming your order. The distillery will then fill and allocate the cask required at the next distillation; a certificate specifying your cask number will then be issued to you.

*Offer Ends 30/12/2009. Filling expected to take place at end of December 2009.
Insurance and Storage for 10 years are included free of charge in the price quoted.*

CASK OWNERS INFORMATION

STORAGE

The longer the whisky is matured, the more complex it will become. There is a maximum of around thirty to thirty five years. Insurance and Storage are included with your purchase for a ten year period and this will expire after the stated period of ten years. Further five year periods of insurance and storage can be purchased at that time if required. Bruichladdich casks will be stored, under bond, at the Bruichladdich Distillery, Islay, Argyll, Scotland, PA49 7UN.

CASK VISITS

Bruichladdich, owing to our barley to bottle operation, is a busy distillery: visits are therefore accepted strictly by appointment only. Casks are stored in a number of our different warehouses, some of which are inaccessible to members of the public on health and safety grounds owing to the height of racking. In addition, there are times of year when cask visits cannot be accepted owing to warehousing work schedules. Cask visits can only be booked from 9.00am to 11.30am on Fridays only and bookings must be made at least 48 hours in advance.

With these limiting factors in mind, please email casks@bruichladdich.com to arrange an appointment and we will do our best to accommodate you. Spontaneous cask visitors and sample requests unfortunately cannot be accepted. One 100ml cask sample per annum is included in the price of your cask.

BOTTLING

The whisky can be bottled at the Distillery in our own bottling hall at the prevailing rates at that time - currently £30 a case of 12 bottles, which includes bottles, corks, capsules, basic label and cartons. The minimum bottling quantity is one third of the cask contents. For trademark protection and quality control purposes, any bottling must be exclusively by Bruichladdich Distillery Co. Ltd. at Bruichladdich Distillery. Bulk whisky or cask shipments from the distillery are prohibited.

Distillery Standard Practices

The Whisky will not be chill-filtered. This is a commercial process that all standard whiskies undergo to remove proteins that can cause a haze in the bottle. The removal of these proteins considerably reduces both the depth and `breadth` of flavour of the whisky. The whisky will be caramel free, the natural colour and will not be artificially adjusted.

Individual cask bottling

Each cask will be bottled separately to preserve the individuality and quality; casks will not be vatted together unless specifically requested.

Strength

We recommend bottling at 46% vol. - the lowest strength possible for whiskies that are not chill-filtered. Cask strength (around 60% vol.) is also possible according to taste and age, but fewer bottles will be obtained. Our Casks are filled at the true spirit safe strength of approx. 70% straight from the still, and are not diluted prior to filling, as is usual practice. 'Cask Strength' would therefore be higher than usually encountered.

Number of Bottles

This varies and is not exact, but for a hogshead, bottled at 46% vol., in 70cl bottles, after 10 years one would expect about 380 bottles; after 20 years about 290. At cask strength of say 60%, one would expect 300 x 70cl bottles after ten years and 190 after 20 years.

Labelling

For trademark purposes, the use of an actual distillery label or bottle shape is not permitted. However a personalised label can be provided based on a general template. Should there be any special design requirements such as logos, colour, design work required then the owner of the cask would need to provide artwork to a specification provided by ourselves. There are certain legal requirements that must be met, dependant on country. Advice can be given.

RECEIPT OF GOODS

Once bottled, stocks can be retained 'under bond' (Duty and VAT free) and drawn down on in three case units. This ensures that Duty & Vat are only paid prior to despatch, rather than on the whole cask contents. Case storage rental is applicable. Within the UK, cases can be delivered to any UK address. For delivery outside the UK please contact the distillery for details.

Collection

Cases can be collected from the Distillery upon payment of a duty, vat, (and delivery) invoice.

Export

A small quantity of duty-paid cases can be delivered by courier into European Union countries (and other non-EU countries) according to the rules and rates prevailing at the time. Bulk duty-paid deliveries cannot be made unless the goods are physically accompanied by the owner. Cases can be exported to the EU and worldwide, under-bond (without paying UK duty and Vat) but only according to the importation laws and taxes of the destination country, and via an accredited importer. We can assist with arranging this and would charge at prevailing rates at the time.

ANCILLARY CHARGES:

Current charges are:

Bottling costs: per case 12 bottles, labelled, £30

Regauging Fee: £25

Change of Ownership Fee: £15

Cased goods rental: £8 per case per year

UK Delivery costs: £15 per single case UK mainland, reduced rates for larger volumes.

SELLING YOUR CASK

In accepting this order, the company expects the purchaser to offer the distillery the opportunity to reacquire your cask if it becomes surplus to your requirements on a 'first refusal' basis, at the market rate prevailing at that time. The cask will need to be regauged to confirm it's current contents - the Angel's Share, the evaporation from the cask, is not much more than 2% per annum. Once the contents are verified, a price per Regauged Litre of Alcohol (RLA) is employed to work out the offer value for the cask and its contents. The price offered will depend on the actual regauge figure, the type of single malt, the cask type, age and market value prevailing at that time. No taxes are due if sold under bond.

PART EXCHANGE

You may wish to exchange a proportion of your cask in order to meet Duty, Vat and bottling charges of around £120 a case. By exchanging two thirds of the cask, the remaining third of the cask will be delivered to you in the UK, bottled, labelled, Duty and Vat paid - with no further charges. This ratio is only an approximation – should you wish to take up this option we would provide more accurate figures based on your actual cask contents/value.
